

We're grateful you joined us to explore the inspiring vision for Hoag's CareMar Recovery Center.

Our experienced clinician panel's stories and insights reminded us that healing from substance use requires compassion, expertise, and a supportive environment that treats the whole person. That's what CareMar is here to provide.

We hope you will join hands with us to expand this life-changing model of care-so more individuals and families in our community can begin their journey to healing.
